Courses and Institutions

The enormous range of educational opportunities – foundation courses, vocational programmes, undergraduate and postgraduate degrees and diplomas, and research programmes – available in the UK can sometimes leave a prospective student confused.

Consider the following while choosing an institution that would be best for you:

- Do the teaching and learning methods used on the course suit you?
- Can you afford or fund the tuition fee?
- What are the opportunities for paid part-time employment?
- Will you be provided accommodation or will you have to find your own?
- What facilities – library, computing, careers, health and welfare, sports, etc are provided?

Entry Requirements

Entry requirements depend on the course and university you choose. Proven records of academic excellence and/or work experience is sometimes mandatory for courses such as the MBA.

Fees, Funding and Scholarships

Fees and funding vary depending on your course, institution and location. Tuition fees at high-profile business schools may be as much as £25,000. Living expenses in or around London range between £6,000-£7,000, whereas those for areas outside London are approximately £5,000-£6,000.

The current range of tuition fees in the UK:

Degree courses

Arts	£7,500 to £11,000
Science	£9,000 to £13,000
Clinical	£18,000 above

Postgraduate courses

Arts	£7,500 to £12,000
Science	£9,000 to £13,000
Clinical	£20,000 above
MBA	£8,000 to £17,000.

In addition to scholarships offered by educational institutions, other sources you may want to consider for funding your education in the UK.

- British Chevening Scholarships
- Charles Wallace Scholarship
- British Council Fellowship Programme
- Commonwealth Scholarships and Fellowship Plan (CSFP)
- Shared Scholarship Schemes
- Overseas Research Students Awards Scheme (ORSAS)
- International Scottish Scholarships

Some UK research councils offer scholarships through the British Council for research programmes in the Sciences and Humanities. UNESCO and WHO operate award schemes for students from developing countries.

Accommodation

The three primary types of accommodation available to international students studying in the UK include residential accommodation at the institution of study, home stay accommodation with a British family, and stay at a hostel, hotel or guesthouse.

Part-time Employment

Students are allowed to work part-time up to 20 hours a week during term and full-time during vacations. Earnings are usually around £6 per hour and increase with the number of hours put in. Postgraduate students prefer to restrict their part-time work to 10-15 hours a week, as their courses are more intensive and demanding. A student working 15 hrs a week during term time (38 weeks) and full time during vacations (14 weeks) on a wage of £6 per hour can earn nearly £6000 in a year.

Career Guidance

Students are encouraged to approach their tutors and career counselors who assist them with resume writing, job applications and interview techniques. They also provide job search workshops and on-course career programmes.

Healthcare

Most British universities have health centres staffed by qualified nurses who offer confidential services dealing with all aspects of healthcare. They refer students to doctors and dentists whenever necessary. The health centres are open to all students.

Assistance with Application Forms and Acceptance Letters

We assist students in identifying the course and university best suited to their profile and future requirements. We also assist our students with documentation to be submitted with the application forms.

Assistance in Obtaining Bank Loans

Banks in India aim to disperse the equivalent of £45 million in study loans this year; making it easier than ever for students to borrow as much as Rs 15,00,000 to meet their tuition and living expenses overseas. TCC has successfully assisted many students in quickly processing their bank loan applications and obtaining bank loans.

Visa Guidance

Once students receive an offer letter from a university we provide them comprehensive guidance in applying for student's visas

Pre-departure Briefings

We advise on relevant arrangements before our students travel to Britain. This includes advice on travel tickets, clothing, foreign exchange, airport pick-up by university staff, etc.

Assistance in the U.K.

TCC associates in the UK possess over 20 years of experience in the field of secondary and tertiary education. They provide unrivalled services for overseas students and take care of all their initial requirements, including pastoral care and support during their stay, a facility that is highly appreciated by students.

Be the change you want to see in the world
